HIS LIFE-WORK.

What an Old-Time Compositor Has Done in Handling Type. 'Uncle Alex' Crockett, a compositor on the Noticer of this city, has recently passed the sixtieth mile-post of his life as a printer, says the Nevada Desecrat. Mr. Crockett has spent the greater portion of his life at the case, and this is what he has accomplished: At an average of three columns a day he has "set up" 56,160 columns. This type, put in a newspaper of sight columns to the page, would fill 7.020

At five minutes per column it would take one year, three months and thirteen days to read this amount of matter.

If measured by the "em" it would aggregate 140, 400,000 ems. At 35 cents per 1,000 ems this amount of labor would be worth $49,140. This much type would weigh 786,240 pounds. It would contain 421,200,000

If these letters were laid end to end they would cover a distance of 5,8163/2 miles.

miles.

It would make 11, 232,000 lines.

He could have set the unabridged edition of Webster's Dictionary thirteen times or the Bible forty-five times.

If placed in one long column it would reach twenty-two miles.

If the metal were molded into bullets it would furnish ammunition to fight the war of 1812 and then have enough to set five copies of "Poor Richard's Almanac," three of Talmage's sermons and 295 patent medicine testimonials.

that perspiring is the only safeguard provided by nature against sunstroke has appeared in print hundreds and thousands of times, people are still on the lookout for something to check perspiration, instead of increasing it, during intense heat. Not a day passes but druggists have calls for something to check perspiration, and the explanation that nothing can be safely used for this purpose is accepted with very poor grace by those to whom it is given It is dangerous to even check perspiration of the feet unless it is very excessive, and even then the remedy is apt to be worse than the disease.

Of course, this only reters to perspiring during hot weather. Cold aweats are a never-failing indication of intense weakness, says the Glo to receive prompt medical attention.

Look over these symptoms: headachs, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat—sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness; offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. You won't have all of them at once; probably only a few of them; but they mean Catarrh.

And the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy mean to core it, if you'll let them, no matter how bad or how long standing. If they can't, they'll pay you $500 in cash.
